The Defendants further object to the extent the request presumes that the databases in question may be accurately or reliably compared against each other. Further, said information that would be responsive to this request is privileged and highly confidential, and no adequate safeguards are currently in place to protect the disclosure of this information. In order for the information that is sought by way of this request to have any probative value, the complete databases within the United States government would need to be produced to all parties, but counsel for the United States have informed the counsel for Defendants that they are unwilling to produce said databases.

Subject to these objections and without waiving same, the Defendants continue to work with the United States toward a compromise on the privacy issues, and upon the successful agreement of all parties, shall provide such documents as are mutually agreed upon and ordered by the court.
